PALO DURO PARK PLEDGE SUPPORT TO CANYON C. C.

WILL LEND AID IN OPENING SECTION IN CANYONS.

Route is Surveyed This Week and Grading Work Expected to Begin Next Week.

Aid in supervising and maintaining the scenic tract on the Palo Duro Canyon, recently acquired by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, will be given that body by the Palo Duro Park Association.

Holding its annual meeting in Amarillo yesterday the association chose F. N. Foxhall of Memphis as its president for the coming year. He succeeds Sam Braswell of Clarendon. Other officers chosen were Dr. J. W. Stevens, Tulia, first vice president; Mrs. James Smith, Amarillo, second vice president, and R. E. Townsend, Amarillo, secretary-treasurer. All but the president were re-elected.

In deciding to assist the Canyon chamber in handling the tract, the body also voted to lend similar support to any like projects that might be developed on other portions of the canyons.

President Byrle Elliston states that it is hoped that the 640 acres lying 11 miles east of town will be opened to the public sometime within the next month.

Work is underway for opening the road and it is expected that the grading on the three mile stretch will begin sometime early next week, Judge Orton stated Wednesday. The road will be graded just as soon as the line fence between the Marshall and Elkins ranches can be moved and a new fence on the north side of the road built. The fence work is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

The whole route was surveyed Monday, and the work of moving the line fence began Tuesday morning.

The move of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce has attracted wide attention and it is expected to attract thousands of tourists here during the summer months.

The congressional party which arrived in Amarillo Wednesday night and which was expected to visit the canyons today did not make the trip owing to a change in schedule. They remained in Amarillo over night and continued their journey to Carlsbad, N. M. this morning.

At the meeting Wednesday a committee composed of A. K. Webster of Amarillo, Joe L. Pope of Hereford and Dr. W. A. Warren of Claude, was appointed to work with the Canyon group in planning details of handling the park.

Boy Scout Work Is Outstanding In Canyon Troops

That Canyon's Scout Troup No. 34, under the leadership of Scout Master Boone McClure and Lewis Shirley is going to be keen competition for the other troups of the Panhandle area when they meet at the annual Camporee early in May was demonstrated at the College Auditorium Saturday morning.

Hampton Lisle, Don Savage and Jackie Pitts demonstrated fire building by friction and by the use of flint and steel. They had their fire going in less time than it takes most people to build one with fine kindling and matches.

"A scout," said Lewis Shirley, who presided at the program "must know how to render first aid." A group demonstrated how to improvise a stretcher, using poles and their shirts, and others bandaged various injuries, including head, knee, arm, and leg. The boys who did this work were Elvin Ridling, the patient, Eugene Davis, Jack Burnett, Glenn Gillispie, C. L. Drummond, patient, Pitts, Bill Cone and Mayo Tanner.

A tight, strong rope was made in little time by Don Savage, Glenn Gillispie, Pitts, Lisle, and Joe D. Whittenburg.

Byron George and Meredith Warren, C. L. Drummond and Leo Duflot furnished amusement in two fast boxing bouts.

Savage, Duflot, J. R. Huckabee, Gillespie and Ralph Higdon demonstrated swift and effective knot tying, and Gillespie, J. R. Huckabee, Don Savage, Jack Burnett, Pitts and Duflot showed how Scouts can use their signalling system in time of need.

The Scout work in Canyon is sponsored by the Rotary Club and the boys are doing excellent work.

SCHOOL BOARD URGES PAYMENT OF TAXES NOW

We are now entering the last month of the current school term, and we do not yet have enough money in the treasury to pay our last month's salaries and current bills. For this reason, we again appeal to you who have not yet paid your 1930 school taxes to go within this month. If you do not have the money, borrow it, if possible, and pay your taxes; you will have to pay no more interest than you are paying to the schools, and it will be much to our advantage.

The schools are yours, and have been placed in our hands to finance and operate to the best of our ability; we are doing our best to operate them economically and efficiently, but this we cannot do without your mental, moral and financial support. Please do your best to pay your taxes this month. Thank you.

Count Luckner's address here is the outstanding event of the College lyceum program. It is open to the public. The price is $1.50.

JARRETT AND O'MALLEY ARE TO SPEAK HERE

PROMINENT MEN TO ADDRESS HIGH SCHOOL CLASS

Baccalaureat Services Will Be Held May 10, Graduation Friday, May 15.

Commencement exercises which will mark one of the most successful school years in the history of Canyon will begin at the Canyon High school Sunday, May 10, and conclude Friday, May 15. Speakers for the occasion of both the Baccalaureate and the Commencement address have been secured.

Dr. F. W. O'Malley, pastor of the First Christian Church of Pampa has been selected to deliver the Baccalaureat sermon to the Canyon High School graduating class of 1931. The Baccalaureate services will be held on Sunday evening, May 10, at the First Methodist Church. It was necessary to select the evening hour in order not to conflict with Mother's Day programs to be given at the various churches in the city on Sunday morning. Dr. O'Malley delivered an address to the college graduating class in 1928.

Dean R. P. Jarrett of the college will deliver the Commencement address to the class of 43 graduate students at the school auditorium on the evening of May 15.

Miss Oressa Hastings has been selected as validictorian and Miss Ann Johnson has been selected as salutatorian of the class.

Superintendent Carruth states that the school feels fortunate in being able to secure the services of both Dr. O'Malley and Dean Jarrett as speakers for the two services.

It is pointed out that this has been a very successful school year. The State Department of Education has highly commended the local school for the creditable work which it has done; its graduates have made an enviable record in college; the percentage of failures has been lowered materially and the work in general has been very satisfactory.

Highway Work On Road West Begun Tuesday This Week

The crew of the company was moved here last week from Lubbock county where it had completed a job of road construction

Work was first begun this side of Umbarger at a point where the right-of-way for the highway has been cleared. It is expected that the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Earl Rough of Dumas spent the week-end with Lewis Upchurch.

PREXY HILL GETS GIFT OF FLOWERS

Radio artists and movie idols are not the only persons who receive gifts from fans. Yesterday President J. A. Hill of the West Texas State Teachers College received his annual gift of blue bonnets from the children of the primary grade of the school which he attended many years ago when he was seven.

The man now in charge of that school was Joe Hill's seatmate when their educational careers began, and each spring brings the box of Texas flowers to Canyon, where blue bonnets are seldom seen. No gift which President Hill receives is more apperciated.

LEAGUE MEET DISTRICT ONE OPENS FRIDAY

EXPECT NEAR 1,000 HERE ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

All Plans Complete With Staff of Officials Ready to Open Annual Meet.

Almost 1,000 boys, girls, parents and teachers from all sections of the Panhandle are expected here Friday and Saturday for the annual meet of District One of the Texas Interscholastic League. The winners of the meet will go to Austin for the finals in the state meet to be held on the campus of the University of Texas.

W. E. Lockhart of the college is director general of District One and has served in that capacity for several years. He announces that all plans for the meet are complete and indications point to a very successful one this year.

A competent staff of assistants and judges including members of both the college and training school faculties and also high school teachers from various schools of the Panhandle has been assembled by Director Lockhart.

T. M. Moore who is in charge of the housing arrangements for the District One meet to be held Friday and Saturday has requested that those who have extra rooms to spare for the contestants to call him at the college, giving the address in order that he may locate rooms for all those who need to stay in Canyon Friday and Saturday nights.

A holiday among college students will be declared for both Friday and Saturday, because of the extensiveness of the meet and the need of space that would be used for regular class work in the college, as well as, using a number of the college students to assist in holding the various events of the meet.

The registration will begin at 11 o'clock Friday morning and continue until 1 p. m. At that time the preliminaries in all events will begin. The final event on the two-day program will come Saturday night with the awarding of the cups and medals at 9:00 o'clock.

The complete program for the meet is as follows:

Friday, April 24.

11:00 to 1:00 p. m.—Completion of Registration.

Plans for Great Plains Meet Are Almost Completed

Coach Sam Burton, director of college athletics yesterday afternoon declared that the plans for holding the annual Great Plains Track and Field Meet here on May 2 were practically complete and that everything would be in readiness to greet the visitors next week end.

Beneath the powerful flood lights of Buffalo field, the cream of the college track teams of western Texas, western Oklahoma and eastern New Mexico will vie for honors on the field and track.

Two outstanding events promise to be seen in the mile relay and the 100-yard dash. McComis, of the New Mexico Military Institute has held the 100-vard dash record for several years but strong competition will be offered in contestants from Edmonds, Oklahoma Teachers and Amarillo Junior College.

The Abilene Christians stepped away with the honors in the mile relay at the Kansas meet last Saturday but will be offered plenty of speed in the race with the Edmond Teachers.

Owing to the lack of interest on the part of the high schools, that division of the Great Plains track and field meet has been dropped for this year. The date of the Great Plains meet is probably the reason for the lack of interest, it coming the week end following the District meet and the week preceeding the state meet at Austin.

It is expected that those in charge at West Texas will make an effort next year to hold a separate meet for the high schools at a time when it will enable all the high schools to attend and this will probably be separate and apart from the Great Plains Track and Field Meet.

MEMBER TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

THE COMING THREE WEEKS

By CLYDE W. WARWICK
(Representative 123rd District)

The legislature of Texas has three weeks before the end of the 120 day period. Confronting the legislative body is a great mass of bills unacted upon and the majority of those now pending will not be considered. This legislature is grinding slowly. Bills which are acted upon have been debated much more thoroughly than in previous sessions of the legislature. Too much time, no doubt, has been consumed in debate on immaterial bills while measures of vast interest lay on the calendar unacted upon.

Governor Sterling, Lieutenant-Governor Witt and Speaker Minor have all announced positive opposition to a special session. Governor Witt issued a statement that it was absolutely unnecessary to have a special session if the appropriation bills should be passed. These bills are pending and should be passed by both Houses this week so the free conference may start operating.

Governor Witt is of the opinion that the legislature should stay in session until May 20th, as this will give an extra week in which to close up the really important matters which are pending. Tired members are sincerely hoping that the session will end approximately upon time, but realize that it will likely be necessary to remain in Austin for a week or so in order to clear up important measures.

After killing the cigarette tax twice in the House, it bobbed up again when tacked on the natural gas tax in the Senate. Coming back to the House the measure was confronted by the largest lobby so far convening against a single measure. The tobacco companies are charged with distributing excessive salaries and stock dividends to their officials and employees.

Teachers, school boards and school patrons are swamping members of the House in an appeal to favor the cigarette tax which has now been shorn of its nuisance feature, if there is any tax which is not a nuisance tax. It is claimed that this one tax alone would raise several million dollars and would solve the present financial difficulty. It would not be at all a surprise to see the House accept the cigarette tax before the end of this session.

The bill to limit lobbyists before the legislature has been killed. The attitude of most members is that they are not afraid of the lobbyists as it is now a well recognized fact that the majority of the lobbyists are high class men sent here to protect the interests of their companies. Time was no doubt when unscrupulous methods were used by lobbyists and no doubt there are some who might stoop to such methods today if the opportunity presented itself, but it is generally recognized that businesses and industries are seeking only a fair deal and to that end are sending high class gentlemen to represent them before the legislature.

When the constitutional amendment was proposed to limit representatives to the legislature in the larger counties it was rather scoffed at as being unfair. Sentiment has changed regarding this bill as it is realized that before many years the cities would absolutely control the legislature. A constitutional amendment will very likely be submitted before the end of this session asking the voters to limit the members of the House in the larger counties. The experience of New York and Illinois is having considerable weight in the discussion of this measure. The people may have an opportunity to pass upon the measure.

Another constitutional amendment of engrossment nature is the road bond issue. Governor Sterling was placed in the second primary on the road bond issue. He was not elected on that platform but no doubt it carried considerable weight in his final election.

The home rule constitutional amendment will very likely be submitted to the people. It passed the House and should it be adopted by the Senate the people will no doubt approve it. If this amendment is adopted, the larger counties to which the amendment applies will very largely run their own affairs without coming to the legislature to pass local bills. This practice of local bills has become somewhat of a nuisance. It is consuming entirely too much time. However, so far as the 42nd Legislature is concerned, this session would have little to show for its work so far were it not for the passage of these local measures.

The House has twice refused to raise the gasoline tax from 4c to 5c. The gasoline bill has been amended to place the tax upon the refiners instead of the wholesalers as at present imposed. It is said this change will bring in several thousand dollars annually which is now escaping taxation.

Of the fifty or more tax measures introduced in this session not more than half a dozen will likely be considered before the end of the session. Most of the measures are impracticable and would work a hardship upon the citizens of the State.

It has been suggested that during the coming two years a committee of citizens together with members of the legislature make an intensive study of the tax problem of the State. It is recognized that the tax system of Texas is entirely inadequate. The best minds of the Texas business world should be drafted to assist the legislature in thinking out the tax problems of this State and make recommendations to the 43rd Legislature.

One thing is certain, the State must collect taxes. The State government must be maintained. The State departments and institutions must function. The only way to raise the money to support the government is by taxation.

Several attempts have been made along this line but have always ended in a most unsatisfactory manner. Most of these reports have been side-tracked by the legislature as in the past too many members have looked upon such non-political boards as interferring with legislatuive prerogative. With the mounting cost of government it is now believed that the time is ripe for this non-political board to study the State's business and attempt to inaugurate some means of reform.

A study of the appropriation bill will reveal the fact that the committee having striven to maintain the operation of the various departments and institutions on about the same level as provided the past two years, in reality of four years, as the legislature two years ago refused to make provision for the natural increase in these institutions.

The managing boards and heads of most of the institutions have been very charitable toward the work of the committee. They have taken into consideration the fact that the cost of living is being reduced and therefore there is no necessity for an increase in salaries. The financial depression may continue for an indefinite period of readjustment and therefore it is impracticable to attempt new projects, which are not absolutely necessary.

Some department heads cannot understand why they suffer a reduction or are not given an increase. Some have been disagreeable in their demands and are demanding their projects be favored above other institutions and departments regardless of whether or not the latter might suffer. The committee is trying to play fair and to hurt no one and to take care of all to the best of their ability.

The matter of appropriation is about as complicated as the matter of taxation.

W. T. Debaters Lose Battle With Tech Boys Tuesday Eve

By unanimous vote of the judges, the W. T. Debate team lost to the Texas Tech Debate team in argument on the question, "Resolved: That Free Trade Should Be Adopted by All Nations," last Tuesday night at Lubbock.

The W. T. Debate team, composed of Edwin Boedeker, J. D. Hazelwood, Jr., and Robert Hunt, together with their sponsor, C. W. Batchelder went to Lubbock and Denton on a debate trip last week, leaving Tuesday. Defending the negative side of the question given above, the decision in the first debate went to their Lubbock opponents.

At Denton, where they debated teams from C. I. A., and from North Texas State Teachers College, the teams were split each time, each school being represented on both sides of the question, thus avoiding giving the decision to one school or the other.

And now will someone kindly tell me where the theme songs have gone? Perhaps they have turned to radio trade marks.

Ho-hum. This spring weather gets me. I don't know whether I have the spring fever or half frozen. Again I ask, is spring here or is it not? But kindly remember I am not a new comer and am not predicting the future climatic conditions in Canyon.

Even if I wasn't missed from Canyon I was gone from the city last week end attending the Panhandle Press Convention in Plainview. However it wasn't what I would call a press convention. Personally I believe it was more of a columnists gathering. There was only one man present who didn't write a column for his paper and he got elected president. There were four or five other fellows there who don't write columns, but they were just ordinary paper salesmen and were not allowed to vote.

Friday afternoon they staged a golf tournament for the visitors and the excitement ran so high that all the columnists left the convention hall and broke up the meeting an hour before it was supposed to adjourn. It was so muddy that they had to wear hip boots but that didn't bother 'em any.

Yes sir, the columnists were there from the daddy of them all on down.

When I finished with the dinner served by the Plainview Herald-News, I thought that I was almost a cowboy the way I had to wrestle with the tough beef that was served me. However a few days before the gathering a warning was sent out by the Chamber of Commerce telling what and when the feed would be held. It was also stated that the Herald-News would serve tough steak, the Chamber of Commerce would serve spring chickens (hatched last summer) and that the Amarillo News-Globe would take the left overs and serve hash.

New Suit Styles Show Parisian Chic

SPRING CREATIONS, IN WOOL OR SILK, MAY SERVE FOR SPORT OR STREET WEAR—COLOR CONTRASTS AND UNIQUE PATTERNS ADD LIFE TO COSTUMES

BY HARRIET

There is nothing "springier" than a new suit. Coats may be handy and frocks may be flattering but suits just naturally imbue a woman with the lilt of youth. No wonder they are so popular!

If you are in the market for a carefully chosen wardrobe from which you can build any number of snappy outfits, you will be interested in the woolen suit Molyneux makes of brown and white stripes on a pale beige background. The skirt is nigger brown.

The skirt itself is fitted beautifully to a high waistline, with belt attached. You can quite easily substitute a white crepe blouse with smart collar line and sleeves and have a neat daytime outfit, with a brown and white hat topping it and white accessories.

There is a fitted overblouse of the striped wool that uses the goods horizontally—striped and outlines all the edges in smart scallops made of the material. It has tiny sleeves, and worn without the coat is a cute sports type of thing, for golf perhaps. Worn with the very Frenchy box coat with raglan sleeves, it takes on a correct look that makes it eminently fitted for the street or work.

This jacket is very cute worn with a brown or even a beige linen frock or a silk one. It is ultra-smart worn with one of the knitted lacy wool sports blouse and skirt suits. Used as it is here, to complete this smart three-piece suit, it makes a very distinctive looking outfit.

* * *

IF you live where wool suits are out of the question except in winter or if you are buying your silk suit for warmer days now when there is a large assortment from which to select, you will look intently at the dainty lozenge printed suit shown here.

It is that soft French silk that Patou uses for many of his costumes. It is in the popular blue and white design, a fine kind of lattice work pattern. There is a dress, made with overseaming, to emphasize the gored skirt that fits snugly up to a normal waistline and a beautifully cut upper portion with very short sleeves. Both the sleeves and the neck of the dress have just a touch of fine white pique.

Over this there is a short, flaring jacket which is belted with blue. This jacket is cut with that peplum line that is so jaunty and young looking. It has a wide facing of three rows of the lozenge material going different ways. The cuffs follow out this design.

The jacket does not fasten at all, but just belts. It is a marvelous little affair for changing its character. Used with a white silk frock and belted with red, it looks patriotic and sportive. Worn with a blue frock and belted with its own material it appears like one of those smart two-material outfits.

USE MORE COTTON PRODUCTS

Much high pressure jumping about to produce instead of to import characterizes every nation at war. What in times of peace we may be led to forget is that the really strong nation is one strong in national resources.

One of the most important American resources, is the cotton industry. Particularly in the public eye now as a means to bringing back greater appreciation for this national asset is quality mercerized cotton. This kind of cotton has a soft, lustrous surface, but it is strong too. And these two talking points—strength and beauty—are much more useful in popularizing a national commodity than any amount of talk about "this is your duty."

It is undeniable that there are certain commodities in the production of which the United States makes small showing. A New York trust company not long ago pointed out that the American steel industry is largely dependent upon the importation of some forty commodities from nearly 60 countries. These include manganese, tungsten, and chromium.

We are hugely dependent upon Japan for silk. Most of our artificial silk companies are closely allied with "mother companies" abroad. In the final analysis they are not thorough American industries.

Cotton is!

When we get tired of our dirt roads we can put our heads together and have a block pavement. —Donley County Leader.

Your wife may be a genius at counting calories and yet be a spectacular failure in feeding her family.

Why do wives who complain of their husbands in public never stop to think that they are reflecting on their own judgment in their choice of a male?

Canada's Pride

NEW DRIVERS ARE SAFER

If asked to express an opinion offhand, most persons would say that new drivers of automobiles would likely cause more accidents than experienced ones. But this idea is all wrong, according to an agency which has been making a Nation-wide study of the reasons for the growing number of traffic accidents.

It is claimed that the new driver, recognizing his own inexperience, is more careful than the veteran motorists, who is overconfident of his driving ability and too accustomed to taking chances. An official further says:

"Another way in which the veteran driver is more careless than the neophyte is in the upkeep of his car. To the new owner every squeak, rattle and sputter is somethings to worry over and have fixed immediately. The old-timer lets the body finish become dulled through lack of washing, he neglects lubrication, and he allows his brakes to become dangerously worn and out of adjustment, feeling that his driving skill will offset the need for adjusting and relining. Hence, more accidents. In fact, a vast majority of the country's motoring mishaps are caused by drivers of long experience."

There appears to be some sound reasoning in the above statements. At least they should give the supposedly expert driver something to think about.

You have got to tell 'em if you want to sell 'em! ADVERTISE!!

Buffs Take Win Over Roswell Crew In Dual Track Go

In the dual track meet, the first encounter of the Burton thin clads so far this season, the speedy, thundering herd of Buffalo trackmen carried away the honors at Roswell, Saturday, when they won the track and field events to defeat the Cadets by a score of 69-57. Both teams took seven first places, Canyon making clean sweeps in the mile, two mile and the low hurdles. The Cadets scored 36 points to 18 for the Buffaloes in the field events, but was weak in track events, getting 21 to 51 made by the Herd.

Following are the results of the dual meet:

Milkmen Buy Dairy Plant

EL PASO, Texas, April 21.—A milk war has resulted in milk producers taking their products directly to the consumer by buying a dairy plant.

The Elephant Butte Dairy league has bought a building of Link and company and within the next month hopes to be marketing its own products in El Paso. Work is underway now for remodeling the building.

Plans are being made for the distribution of milk, produce and fruits produced in the upper and lower valley near here. Milk handling will be the first product.

Community distribution of the farm products is the object of the league in going into business for itself, F. E. Reedy, league president, said.

The co-operative distribution of produce is expected to lead to the development of diversified farming in the valley. Crops never before raised in the valley for profit are expected to be produced and marketed through the new plant here. League officials hope that farmers in this section will turn from the wholesale production of cotton and alfalfa.

Distribution of milk will be similar to methods used by other dairies. Milk will be brought to El Paso by trucks and handled here by the dairy league's sales organization.

There will be no cut-throat competition among El Paso wholesale produce distributors. Reedy promised. Instead efforts will be made to assist local produce distributors in securing and marketing products from this section, he said.

TWO RULES THAT NEVER FAIL

By BERT MOSES.

There are just two important rules in advertising.

One rule is to begin it, and the other rule is to keep it up.

And there has never been a case where anybody made a success in advertising who ignored these two simple rules.

The time to advertise is all the time, for there are always people who want to buy what a merchant has to sell.

In every store there are goods for sale that an overwhelming number of people do not know are there.

How are they to find out if the merchant does not tell them?

Telling folks in the advertising columns what you have to sell is the very essence of sound business, and failure to tell them is surely a blunder.

It doesn't matter so much if times are a little off color, for people have to buy things anyhow.

And don't let this fact escape you:

When the volume of business is curtailed, the merchant who does the most and the best advertising gets the most of that curtailed trade.

So there you are!

Newspaper advertising will get a good share of this trade, while failure to advertise won't.—Reprinted from a folder we received from The Republican company.

DAWES-SENIOR VOICE RECITAL IS GIVEN WED.

BARITONE SINGS SCHUBERT CYCLE, "THE MAID OF THE MILL"

Accompanied by Miss Alice Dawes, pianist, William Dawes, baritone, was presented by the Music Department in his senior song recital last Wednesday evening at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Education building.

"The Maid of the Mill" was the program of the evening. This song cycle gives the story of a wanderer's love for the Maid of the Mill. The titles of the songs partially reveal the story. They were, in order: Wandering, Whither, Halt by the Brook, Thanks to the Brook, After Work, The Queston, Impatence, Morning Greetng, The Miller's Flower, Teardrops, Mine, Pause, With the Green Lute-band, The Hunter, Jealousy and Pride, The Favorite Color, The Hateful Color, Withered Flowers, The Miller and the Brook, and The Brook's Lullaby.

The entire program was given by Mr. Dawes in groups of five songs, with intermissions between the cycles of very short length. His audience was much larger than the average for student recitals, and is an indication of the growing local appreciation of fine art.

Mr. Dawes comes to W. T. from Big Spring. He is to receive his degree here this year as a voice major. He has been a prominent soloist in this institution, in the community and in near by cities during his work in W. T. He has done much singing in cantatas, oratorios, and light operas in addition to his work as a soloist. He has sung for many assemblies and has proved popular as a radio artist.

Mr. Dawes is a pupil of Mr. Wallace R. Clark, head of the department of music and instructor in voice.

GEOGRAPHICAL FACTS ARE SURPRISING

If you only think you know your geography, you may be surprised by these facts, which are literal, with no jokers concealed in them: Reno, Nev., famed divorce center, is about 100 miles farther west than Los Angeles; Cleveland is seven miles farther east than Jacksonville, Fla; to reach Canada by the shortest route from Detroit one must travel almost due south; the Pacific terminus of the Panama Canal is farther east than the Atlantic end; Arica, Chile, on the Pacific, is farther east than New York.

Then why shouldn't booth in the plural be beeth?

Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen

But more than one house is surely not hice.
A cow in the plural is properly called kine,
But a bow if repeated is never called bine.
Then one may be that and two would be those,
Yet hat in the plural would never be hose.

But though we say mother, we never say muthren.

Spring Football Shows Prospects For Good Eleven

Spring football starts Monday. An unusually large squad is expected to be cut for practice; even the Seventh Grade will be well represented. A rough estimate of the squad would be forty-five, of which more than two-thirds is entirely green material. Coach Brady intends to spend the few weeks of spring football in teaching only the essentials of football. All indications are that C. H. S. will have a strong team for next year.

Assemblies

Many interesting boxing matches were held in Boy's Assembly in the gym Wednesday afternoon, with Coach Brady as referee. No winners were announced.

Pat McCormick and Harold Gill went together with a mighty blow. Both men put up a hard fight, but it was hard to tell who was winner.

Dan Gerald and Cecil Pike fought hard to win their match. T. V. Slack and Alton Brasuel fought for two minutes.

The most interesting fight was between Jake Beard and Elfer Oberst. Both men had practiced several times for the match. When they got their hair ruffled up they looked like bad men from Borneo.

SEEK TO BREED NEW RACES OF HONEYBEES

The United States department of agriculture is attempting to develop a new race of honeybees superior to any now serving the beekeeper.

Specialists in the government bee laboratory near Washington, D. C., are testing and attempting to improve various methods for the artificial insemination of queen bees devised within the past few years in this country and abroad. Once such technique is made more practicable they will assemble specimens of the more important races of honeybees and will make innumerable crosses in an effort to combine the desirable characteristics of all of them into one or two new races, just as the livestock breeder seeks in his breeding operations to improve his animals.

The bee breeders hope their work will go even further than this by producing new types with the desirable traits developed to a greater degree than in any races now known.

First, beekeepers would like bees with considerably larger honey stomachs so they can carry more nectar on each trip. They hope for a bee with a larger thorax and a greater wing expanse so it can fly under more adverse conditions and carry heavier loads. For northern climates a bee that can fly in cooler weather is sought. A larger tongue capable of sucking nectar from the depths of long-tubed flowers would be welcome. A race that would breed rapidly but not swarm excessively and would be immune to contagious diseases is another hope of the breeders. And last but not least, a gentle, sociable honeybee with a good disposition is more to the hearts of the men who work with bees.

"The honeybee has been longer in man's service than most domestic animals," James I. Hambleton, head of the government bee laboratory, says, "but the bee can not be classed as a domestic animal. It leaves for the woods on the slightest provocation and is just as well satisfied there as ever. We believe we can really domesticate the honeybee and can make bee breeding as profitable to the beekeeper as careful breeding now is for the livestock man."

INTEREST IN SPOILS

There is but one paramount issue in American life, and that is the quality of thinking the average American brings to his participation in popular government.

That quality of thinking should have nothing in common with the pettifogging tactics of shyster lawyers, concerned more with victory than with veracity, and manufacturing and manhandling evidence in feverish pursuit of a favorable verdict.

Few politicians and voters possess the passion for truth, their thinking is not in the direction of discovery, but in defense of prejudices and habits. They are like the philosophers, who, while professing to be seeking the truth are merely apologists absorbed in defending some vested illusion or some eloquent idea, and like lawyers and detectives, studying the case to see how much evidence or semblance of evidence they can gather for the defense, and how much prejudice they can raise against the other side.

Most voters do not covet truth, but victory. They are not so much concerned with the claims of their side as with the victory of their side. Under cross-examination they betray shameful ignorance of their issues and the qualifications of their candidates.

Voting by custom and prejudice is no more conducive to good self-government than not voting at all.

Demonstration Of Progress Is Given by Scouts

Troop No. 1 of the Boy Scouts of Canyon gave a good demonstration of the work which they have accomplished this year. The program was opened by a call being played on the bugle by Jackie Pitts. Following this the Scout Pledge, Oath, Motto, Laws and Allegiance to the Flag were given.

Signaling, rope making, first aid, fire making and knot tying were demonstrated. As the concluding number one of the boys played a piece on the harmonica, after which "Taps" was heard.

Under the direction of their mistress, Lois Goodrich, the Girl Scouts, Troop No. 2, have been very successful in their work this year. The regular attendance has increased greatly and everyone has enjoyed the work very much.

The project now on hand is to obtain a half-mile of pennies in time to enjoy a trip during the summer avcation. Posters are being made to advertise this work, and it is hoped that everyone will drop their pennies at the Canyon Bakery where the scouts are measuring them.

SENIOR SNEAK DAY

The seniors surprised all the rest of the school by not appearing on the scene Friday, April 17.

About three o'clock that afternoon it finally dawned upon the freshmen that it was the annual Senior Sneak Day and not a kidnapping case.

Also about 8:00 o'clock that evening the seniors came in happy, but sore after a day's play in the canyons.

HUDSON SPEAKS

Last Friday afternoon at the regular home room period the student body assembled in the auditorium and heard a very interesting talk given by Rev. L. R. Hudson of the local First Christian church. In his talk he dealt with the four dimensions of life—length, breadth, depth, and quality. He said that nearly everyone has three dimensions, but not nearly so many have the subtle fourth dimension of quality.

The students enjoyed the talk very much and would like to have Rev. Hudson speak to them again.

The old-fashioned youngster learned a lot of things from his mother, but how to smoke and swear were two accomplishments that he had to pick up from his dad.

Men who want to live in the memory of their friends ought to give something of their substance to their home community before they die to make certain that the community gets the benefit of it.

Friendship ought to be valued for what there is in it and not what we get out of it.

Many Visitors Enjoy Exhibit Given Friday

A very interesting exhibit of the work done in the Canyon Public Schools during the present school year was displayed last Friday in the high school and elementary school buildings. These exhibits were well attended by some three hundred patrons who expressed much pleasure at the quality of work done by the school. A program was given by the different departments of the elementary school to the general public preceeding the display and visits to the exhibits. One of the most interesting parts of this program was the demonstration given by the girls' class in physical education.

The exhibit consisted of projects, notebooks, maps, written exercises and other work done by the students in class. The display of the work done in the manual training and home economics were especially interesting to many of the fathers and mothers that had never visited these departments. Some were astonished at the quality of manual work done by the boys and girls.

The elementary school exhibit attracted the greatest attention. A sample of the entire display placed in the show windows of the Warwick Printing Company on Wednesday of this week.

Chapel

Following some announcements made by Supt. Carruth and Principal McDonald, eighteen girls from Miss Goodrich's gym class at the grade school presented a program in chapel last Thursday.

Each girl showed one specific type of work. Hand springs, cart wheels, standing on heads, elephant walks, and the balancing exercise were demonstrated. Some special stunts were done, after which the students were dismissed.

PLAINVIEW NET MEN WIN

The Canyon racketeers met defeat at the hands of the Plainview netmen. Canyon's first team, represented by Billie and Arthur Robinson, were taken into camp to the tune of 6-3, 8-6 sets. The second team, represented by Vincent Lockhart and Clarence Wooten fared even worse. Their final score was 6-2, 6-4.

A woman generally gets more by crying than by demanding.

C. H. S. To Enter Many Contestants In Dist. Tourney

C. H. S. has always taken an active part in the Interscholastic League Contests. Canyon has been the center of this district more than ten years, and, for each of those years, someone has had the honor of representing Canyon High School.

This year is a banner year for C. H. S. since they have entered more contests than ever before.

In the literary events the debaters will be Kayte B. Lowe, Bib Jamseon, Hosea Foster, and Vincent Lockhart. Rosa Cash is the senior declaimer, while Hal Gamble and Mary Mae Harrison are the Junior declaimers.

In tennis Mary Orton will play girls' singles; Orlene Gunter and Amogene Fowler, girls' doubles; Clarence Wooten, boys' singles; and Billie and Arthur Robinson, boys' doubles.

In the track and field events, Coach Brady will enter Wayne Tucker in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dash. Jimmy Ford Burgan will enter the 100 and 220 yard dash. Willard Middleton and George Brasuel will run the 880, while Wilford Taylor will run the mile.

Mr. August Jenkins, the great sport writer from California will give you his opinion on C. H. S. football prospects next week.

One trouble with the present is that by about the time you find a parking place, the show is over.

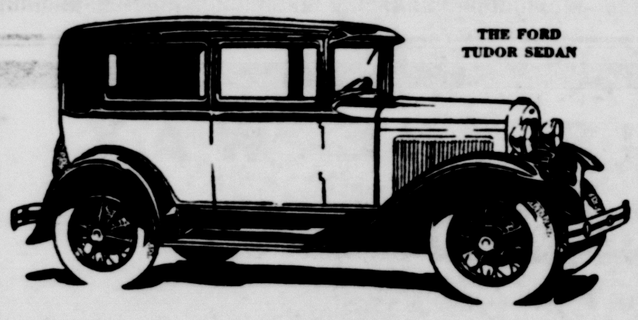
FORD RELIABILITY



Long, hard use shows the value of good materials and simplicity of design

EVERYWHERE you go you hear reports of the good performance and reliability of the Ford.

One owner writes—"The Ford Tudor Sedan I am driving has covered 59,300 miles through all kinds of weather. It is still giving perfect satisfaction."

Another owner describes a trip of 3217 miles in 95 hours over bad roads and through heavy rain and sleet in the mountains. "Throughout the entire trip," he writes, "the Ford performed excellently and no mechanical trouble of any kind was experienced. The shatter-proof glass undoubtedly saved us from serious injury when a prairie chicken struck the windshield while we were traveling at 65 miles an hour."

See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the Ford. Then, from your own personal experience, you will know that it brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

Like a Symphony . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

IT'S primer knowledge to the orchestra conductor that each group of instruments in the ensemble brings a necessary influence into the symphony's finished blend of tone. In the unaccompanied "oompah" of the bass horns the overlay of melody provided by singing violins and mellow woodwinds is lacking. All must be blended by the baton of the conductor according to the expert formula of the composer before the perfection of the symphony is achieved.

CONOCO long has realized that harmony is as necessary to gasoline as to music. So CONOCO gasoline is blended—and balanced. One type of gasoline is no more satisfactory than is an orchestra of bass horns. So CONOCO refiners take the three types containing the elements of the perfect fuel and deftly combine them until they blend in absolute harmony.

That's why CONOCO contains: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting . . . Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage . . . Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock qualities.

No single type of gasoline can contain all these qualities. They are present, though, in CONOCO Gasoline . . . blended there into a symphonic, harmonious whole, with CONOCO'S master refiners wielding the baton. For, after all, it's in knowing how. That's why some musical directors, as well as some refiners, achieve fame.

You'll find this triple-test gasoline with the balanced-blend wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle.

Will you have to start from the beginning again . . and save and save for a home? Or will the fire insurance companies cheerfully and promptly assume all losses?

BUFFALO BAND MAKES MUDDY TWO-DAY TRIP

VISITS 4 PANHANDLE TOWNS WITH SPECIAL GOODWILL PROGRAM.

Four inside concerts and two street programs were given by the Buffalo Band on its two-day trip through rain-soaked towns of the Panhandle Thursday and Friday. Towns visited were Hereford, Friona, Farwell, and Dimmitt, the intended visits to Tulia and Happy being omitted on account of delay caused by the heavy down-pour Friday.

The first program given was at Hereford, at 10:45 Thursday morning, in the Hereford High School auditorium. Numbers included in the program were "Napoleon's Last Charge," march; "Golden Wand," overture; "Bohemian Dance;" "Southern Melodies;" "Barcarolle Waltz;" "Alma Mater," and various specials. The special numbers given were varied for each town visited. Those given at Hereford were "The Perfect Song," sung by Alfred Jameson, with band accompaniment, a piano solo by George Heard; and two numbers, "The Gardens of Tomorrow," and "The Mocking Bird," whistled by Joe Hill, Jr.

At Friona, the next stop, reached Thursday afternoon, special features of the program included two readings by Ernest Cabe; Jameson's "The Perfect Song;" a violin solo by Meredith Ashby; and Director Strains' own composition "Attention." This last piece was dedicated to the Friona Junior class play at the request of the members of the class.

The concert at Farwell was given Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Here special numbers were two readings by Madeline Cox, who has recently become a member of the Band; a piano solo by George Heard; a violin solo from "Thais," played by Meredith Ashby; and a trombone solo by Charles Kiker.

The band spent the night in Farwell in private homes.

The return trip began Friday, much delayed by the bad roads caused by the rain on fresh gradings. Three hours were required to drive the short distance from Farwell to Dimmitt, where the band concert was scheduled for 10 o'clock a. m. It was given at 1 p. m. in the Dimmitt High School, with all the members much the worse for the hard trip and the mud. Luncheon was served following the concert.

In making the trip between Dimmitt to Hereford the bus was repeatedly stopped by the mud, finally stalling completely, due to engine trouble. Two of the boys, Charles Strain and Alfred Jameson, walked thirteen miles into Hereford for help, which did not reach the party until Saturday morning. They arrived in Canyon Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

Twenty-eight members of the Band, including C. E. Strain, director, composed the party which left W. T. early Thursday morning on a good-will trip to points in the Panhandle, returning Saturday afternoon after a most tiring experience with wet roads and motor trouble. A North-Plains Greyhound coach driven by Jack Davis was chartered by the group for the trip.

Glee Club Will Go To Pampa to Give Musical Program

Plans to present a program in Pampa May 4, are being made by the members of the College Women's Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Ada V. Clark.

This program will be a part of the National Music Week celebration exercises in Pampa. As a part of the same celebration, the Club will probably give a program at Panhandle in the afternoon, preceding the one at Pampa that evening.

The program to be given in Pampa will be presented here in the college chapel before its presentation in Pampa.

The trip will be made by bus, with about twenty girls and Miss Clark going.

The program on which the Glee Club is working for the occasion consists of the following numbers: "The Kerry Dance," by Mallay-Lynes; "The Shoogy-Shoo," Mayhew; "Dutch Lullaby," Wilson; "The False Prophet," Scott; and a song cycle of nine pieces entitled "Pan on a Summer's Day," by Bliss.

Boy Scout Program Reveals Progress Of Canyon Troop

Troop 32 of the Boy Scouts, under the leadership of Boone McClure and Lewis Shirley, was in charge of the program given in Chapel Saturday morning.

The program was opened with the Pledge to the Flag given by the troop, the flag held by Don Savage. Following this, three of the older scouts of the troop demonstrated for the audience methods of making fire without matches, including the flint and steel method, and the twirling stick method. The care with which the boys handled the fire made in this way was noticeable.

Demonstrations of knot tying, first aid to the injured, and rope-making were given, each feature being carried out with the utmost smoothness and facility.

With two scouts standing in the balcony and two on the platform, a wig-wag message, written by President Hill, was sent from one to the other, the answer being sent back by the same means.

Proving that recreation and entertainment are also a part of the Boy Scout program, the troop presented two of their members in a guitar-harmonica duet and staged two boxing matches between two couples of the younger members.

Each year the members of this local troop present a program to the college assembly, in order to show the kind of work and the progress being made by them. In the years during which the Scout movement has been organized in Canyon and W. T., many of the local boys have been members, and have risen from tenderfoot to "Eagle" rank.

A rising-show at the assembly Saturday, requested by Pres. J. A. Hill, revealed the fact that a large percentage of the student body here have at some time been members of either the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, or Campfire Girls.

School Men Aid In Staging Annual School Meet Here

The superintendents and other schoolmen who assist in the Interscholastic League meet at Canyon each year are men who are prominent in education in this section of the state, and are interested in all around development of the high school pupils of the whole region.

H. A. Finch, who directs the declamations for city schools, is superintendent at Dalhart, where he has built a good system in a rapidly growing town.

E. L. Hunter, formerly superintendent at Claude, directs the declamation contests for rural school children. Mr. Hunter is now principal of one of the Amarillo ward schools.

Silverton is the location of C. R. E. Weaver who has charge of the extemporaneous speaking contests. Weaver is graduate of the College here, and formerly was superintendent at Knox City. He is a real school builder.

W. E. Sherman, principal of a rural school in Swisher county, and a former student of the college directs the "Three-R" contest, which is one especially for children of rural schools.

Besides the visiting school officials who take part in the Interscholastic League work, members of the senior class, the entire college faculty, and many individual students who excel in special lines are called upon to make the meet run smoothly.

Prof. W. E. Lockhart, who is director general of the meet, has acted in this capacity for the last ten years. The meet here is said by the state officials to be one of the best organized and managed in the state.

Bureau Striving Improve Quality Of Milk Product

Raising the quality of the nation's supply of dairy products, particularly market milk and cream, until the point is reached where all the people, whether they live in city or town or on the farm, will be one of the most important concerns of the dairy industry of the United States, says O. E. Reed, chief of the bureau of dairy industry, in his annual report on the work of the bureau, which Secretary Hyde of the U. S. department of agriculture made public in Washington recently.

Reporting upon the bureau's milk quality-improvement project, Mr. Reed said that this is considered one of the most important features of the work of the bureau and the regional dairy extension specialists. As a result of the cooperative efforts of the bureau and the extension service of the state colleges of agriculture, considerable progress in quality improvement has already been made in several states, the report says.

"To reach the goal of general high quality is largely a matter of getting before the dairy farmer and others of the industry the facts regarding the practices which have been found to give the best results," says the report. "To stimulate the development of a comprehensive plan for improving the quality of milk, a great deal of work has been done, not only in planning programs but in making them effective in several of the states."

The importance of interesting the boys and girls in the 4-H clubs of the country in the program for improving the average quality of the milk produced on Amrican farms, has been recognized by the bureau and the extension service in quality-improvement activities, says Mr. Reed. He says that suggested programs for quality improvement have been drawn up for the use not only of the adults who are the dairy farmers of today, but also for club boys and girls who will be the dairy farmers of tomorrow.

The quality-improvement work is now in progress in many places, with the bureau, the state extension, state and city departments of health and other agencies all cooperating. Some dairy communities have made marked improvement in the quality of the dairy products which they produce and market, says Mr. Reed.

The efficiency and economy with which the milk supply of the nation is produced is another subject to which the report gives particular consideration. "From the standpoint of research, one of the most important things which confronts the dairy industry today," says Mr. Reed, "is that of determining more definitely the production of the nation's dairy cattle, by studying the actual cost and production records of large numbers of dairy animals."

Mr. Reed reports significent progress during the year along many of the bureau's lines of research. This work covers a diversity of subjects, including among others, the metabolism and nutrition of the dairy cow; vitamins in foods; the chemistry and bacterology of milk and the manufacture of condensed milk, milk powder, ice cream, cheese, casin, milk sugar, whey albumen, and cultured buttermilk.

The bureau's research and experimental work in the breeding, feeding, and management of dairy cattle, which is carried on in laboratories and at the eight federal experiment stations in various parts of the country, is reported briefly. This work embraces linebreeding and outbreeding; inbreeding and outbreeding; the crossing of families; official testing of cattle for milk and butterfat producing ability; proving of bulls for their ability or lack of ability to transmit high production; the health, breeding efficiency, fertility and sterility, and calving efficiency of dairy cattle; studies of the mammary systery; confirmation and growth of dairy cattle; the relation of the confirmation of the cow's body to her milk production; various problems of pasture crops and management, and feeding for efficient and economical milk production.

The service which the bureau renders to the dairy manufacturing industries, in making available to them the results of its research and experimental work which make for more efficient and more profitable commercial operations, is discussed in the report. This, as well as a great deal of the other work of the bureau, is done in co-operation with the state colleges of agriculture, and these arrangements are working out efficiently for the benefit of the dairy industry, says Mr. Reed.

San Jacinto Day Program Given At College Tuesday

Among the programs celebrating San Jacinto day in Canyon was that at the College when Prof. L. F. Sheffy opened the discussion with a short address, "The Meaning of San Jacinto." Prof. Sheffy after developing the thought of the basic ideals on which Texas was established said, "The challenge of San Jacinto to Texas today is to use her uncounted wealth to the end that justice and liberty may come to be realities in Texas. Until such a time the battle of San Jacinto will not have borne its full fruit."

Following him, Miss Edna Graham outlined the progress of women from a place of inferiority and servitude to that of real citizens. She said, "We have been working for quantitative citizenship; we must know work for a qualitative citizenship which will appreciate its privileges and recognize its responsibilities."

Two students appeared on the program. Miss Edna Lawlis spoke on "The Girl as a Citizen of the College." She discussed with skill the elements of adequate college citizenship. J. D. Hazelwood closed the program with a short discussion of the meaning of citizenship.

Visitors and students pronounced this one of the best programs of the year and President Hill commended it highly before the assembly was dismissed.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world, and that includes the neighbor who borrows your home town paper before you are through with it and then forgets to bring it back.
